To the development team at Blocket,

I'm excited to apply for the Junior Front-End Developer position at Blocket. After reviewing your job advertisement, I believe my skills and enthusiasm align well with your team's needs. I think I could be your cup of tea!

Blocket's growth and success since 1996 is truly inspiring, and your ability to engage such a large portion of Sweden's population speaks to its strong reputation, and I would love the opportunity to contribute to this continued success. I admire Blocket's mission of advertising and reselling second-hand items, as it not only supports a sustainable circular economy but also has a positive impact on the environment.

Over the past year, I have dedicated myself to learning front-end development through education and personal projects. My studies have provided me with a strong foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, and GIT. Although I am relatively new to the field, I am highly adaptable, eager to learn, and excited about the opportunity to contribute my skills in a professional environment.

My previous experience in nursing has sharpened my problem-solving abilities, attention to detail, and quick thinking, all of which directly translate into my work as a developer. I approach challenges with a systematic mindset and always seek effective client-focused solutions.

While my experience may not yet include a traditional junior development role, one of the benefits of being relatively new to this field is that I am highly adaptable. I am confident that my education demonstrates my commitment to acquiring the necessary skills to contribute meaningfully to the team. I am ready to be shaped into exactly what you need.

Although my native language is English, I have been studying Swedish part-time for over three years. If I am successful in this job application, I look forward to improving my Swedish skills and using the language in the workplace.

I understand that, as an international applicant, there may be additional steps involved in securing a work permit or visa. However, I want to assure you that I am fully committed to navigating these processes. I am prepared to take the necessary steps to ensure a smooth transition and would be thrilled to join such a well-established and respected company.

Thank you for considering my application, I look forward to hearing from you!

Kindest regards,

Elisabeth Myers
